

Meet the 2026 OSA NOMINEES

Nominations are closed, March 14, 2026.

4 positions available, and the following were nominated, meet the requirements and let their names stand.

Pat Thibodeau
Re-election

Pat Thibodeau has been involved with Shorthorns for nearly 30 years and has developed Tibs Shorthorns into a 20-head herd with a strong genetic tie to Scotsdale Shorthorns, founded by his mentor Emerson Clarke. He has supported local Halton 4-H members for many years by loaning calves and encouraging youth participation. With career experience in both financial services and teaching, Pat brings strong communication and practical decision-making skills. Now retired and focused on the farm, he looks forward to contributing his experience and commitment to the Ontario Shorthorn Association board.

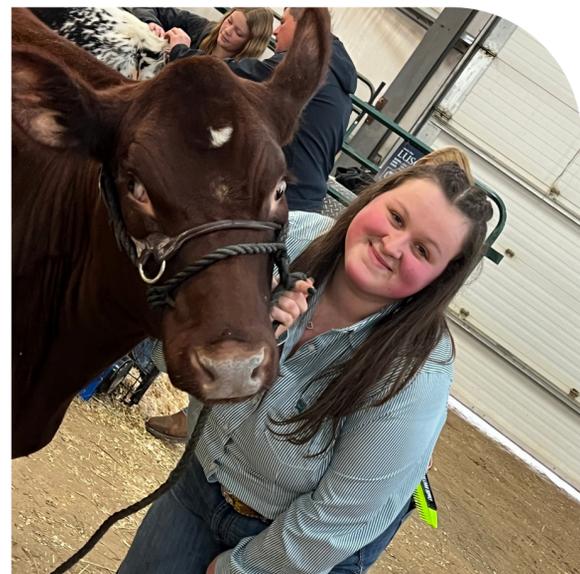

Jason Schill
Election

Jason Schill grew up in Wellington County on a mixed farm that included feeding cattle and a breeder layer operation. He was very involved with local 4-H including showing cattle. He moved to Caledon when he married and along with my wife's family own and operate a on-farm butcher shop and dairy farm. Recently Jason and his wife have started our journey into purebred shorthorns with the intent to show. His oldest daughter has shown a great interest in cattle and they are trying to build up their own herd to be able to compete when she is of age. He looks forward to continuing to grow the breed as well as work with other producers to further our causes .

Samantha Lundy
Election

Samantha Lundy is from Collingwood, Ontario. She studied agriculture with a focus on Agricultural Business and Animal Science and currently works for Farm Credit Canada. She has over 12 years of experience in the agricultural industry through her involvement in 4-H and the Junior Shorthorn programs. During that time, she served as both a Junior Board Member and President for the Ontario and Canadian Junior Shorthorn Associations. These experiences have shaped her passion for agriculture and strengthened her commitment to supporting the livestock industry, encouraging the next generation of producers, and contributing to the continued growth of the association.

Elizabeth Lockhurst
Election

Elizabeth has been actively involved in the Junior shorthorns for 4 years beginning as a Junior herself. She enjoys supporting the juniors anyway she can. Through showing cattle and helping organize events, she works to build opportunities anyway she can. She is always looking for ways to expand the junior events and help anyway possible. Elizabeth is passionate about helping the industry grow and supporting others in it.
